Mission Statement

The Powerful Parent Self Advocacy Group is a self advocacy group run by and for parents with an intellectual disability.

Our group is important because we strongly believe that the voice of parents with an intellectual disability needs to be heard and not denied.

How & Why PPSAG began

We started because of the numbers of parents with an intellectual disability who do not get the support they need to keep their children.

Our Group is important

The Powerful Parent Self Advocacy Group will work to make sure that parents with an intellectual disability:

- have the same rights as any other parent in the community and not be treated differently.
- receive the support, education, and resources we need to keep our children at home.
- have the same right to reunification with our children as any other parent and to be provided with the support, education and resources to make this happen
- know they are not alone.
- be treated with respect
- have the support and funding we need to have good levels of access to our children when they do not live with us.

What we offer?

- Support & a Safe Place
- Meetings to discuss changes needed
- Connection to others with a similar experience
- Meetings with :
Government and Advocates to help
